

I usually just used the integrated browser when looking at how an email would look on a desktop, but when you told me I'd also need to have it work on a phone, I ran into a problem. A lot of the apps the professor suggested for me to use just did not work. Emails on acid did not work as my account creation ran into an issue, and would not work with my credit card. And the putsmail had been sunsetted. So I looked online and found that I can just open my index dot html file in my chrome tab and change the view to mobile which led to this.

Once here, you can press f12, then control shift m.

Please donate to our cause

Please consider a small donation to our club. Donations as small as 25k Euros are accepted!

Player lifestyle funding

Your donation helps fund certain aspects of our player's lifestyles, whether that is paying for their clothes, or to refuel their Lagonda's.

General club funding

We also allow club members to fund the club in a more direct approach, whether that be paying for players fines, whenever they get a red card, or just paying for their meals.

€25k

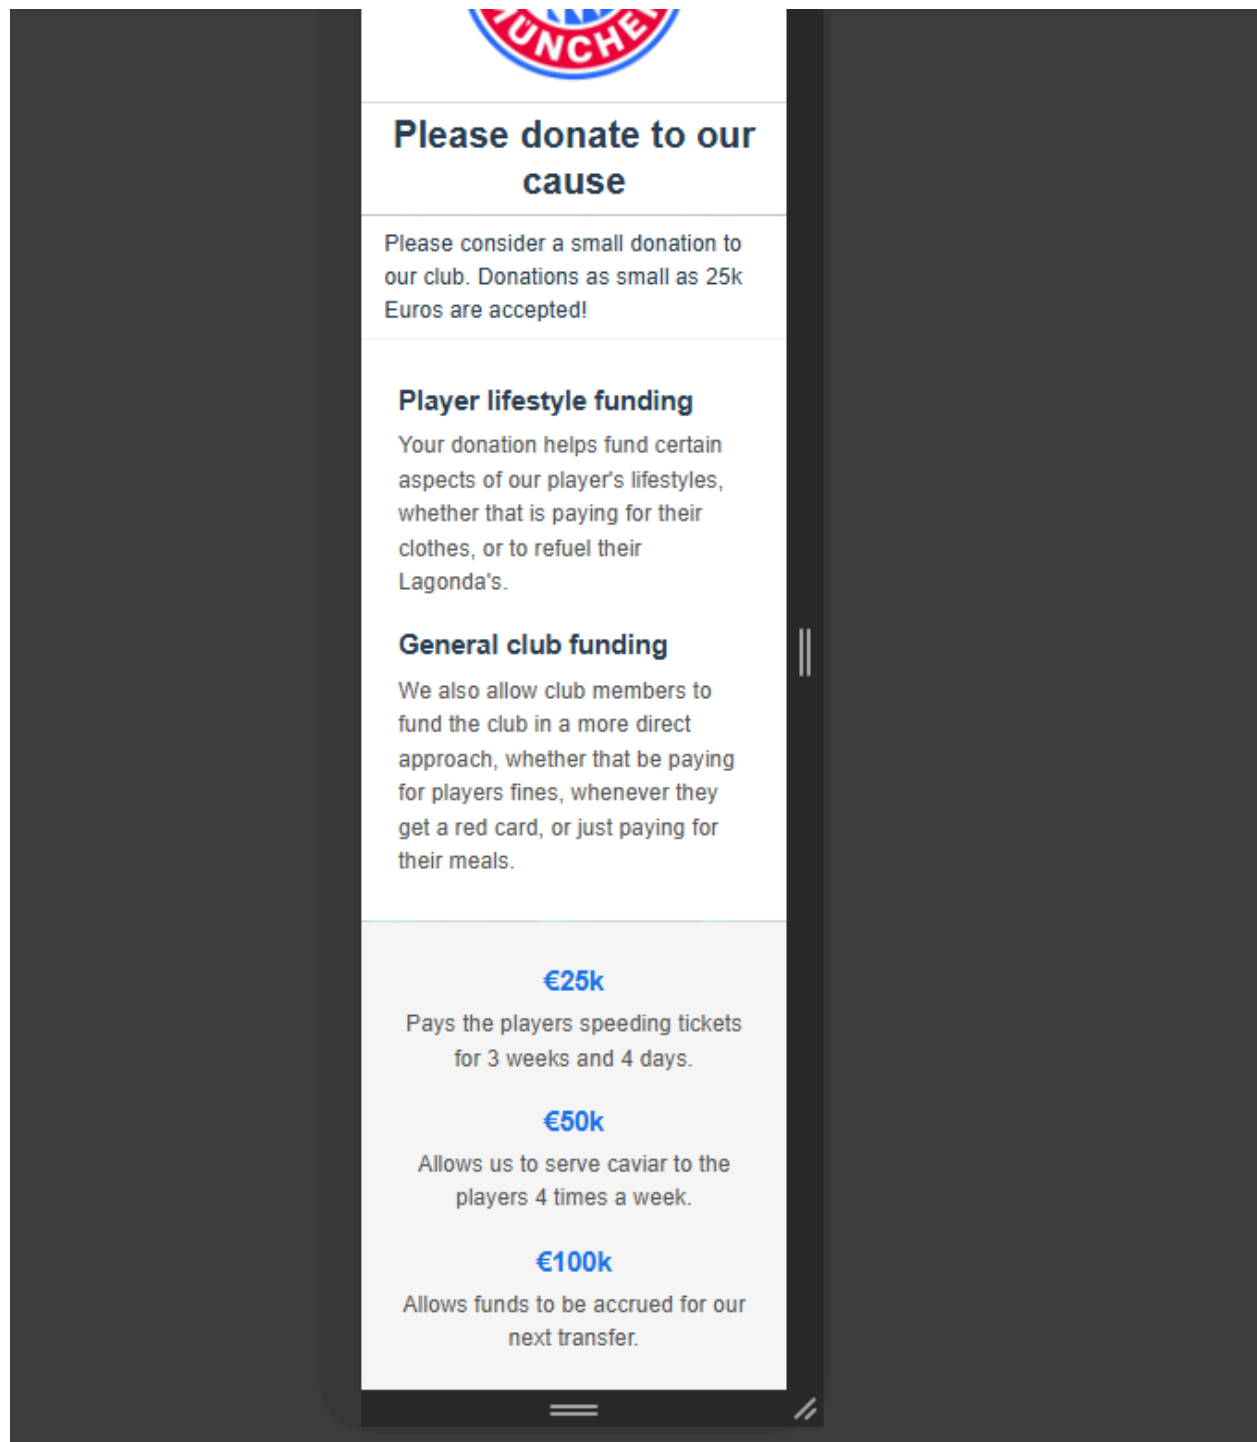

Pays the players speeding tickets for 3 weeks and 4 days.

€50k

Allows us to serve caviar to the players 4 times a week.

€100k

Allows funds to be accrued for our next transfer.

I've left to screenshots to show how it looks on a normal phone view, and a skinnier phone view, in case you have one of those folding phones, and it looks ok, the background image is not there, but it still features all the text, which i think is the more important part.