

This is a screenshot of me downloading NVDA screenreader, for me it wasn't very helpful, as it was very loud, and quite panic inducing. Luckily I am not visually impaired, so I do not have a need for an app like this. That also means I am unable to give a helpful review of it. It did read the words on the screen, so I can tell you it works, but you'd need to ask someone visually impaired to get an idea of whether the app is good or not.
